MEDICINE 2000 – NEW OPTIONS, HARD CHOICES

DARTMOUTH MEDICAL SCHOOL, VERMONT LAW SCHOOL and DARTMOUTH-HITCHCOCK MEDICAL CENTER are pleased to offer an outstanding series of sessions that address the complex scientific, legal and ethical issues confronting health care today.

SIX WEEKLY SESSIONS

OFFERED IN YOUR CHOICE OF DATES:

You can register for Series A or Series B depending on which dates are most convenient for you (see dates below). Both series include all six sessions listed below.

Session 1:

• INFERTILITY:

The thrill of victory, the agony of defeat.

Session 2:

• GENETIC TESTING:

How accurate, how useful, how ominous?

Session 3:

• ENVIRONMENTAL TOXINS:

Are our public policies rational?

Session 4:

• HIV & AIDS:

Situation hopeful, but desperate!

Session 5:

• ADDICTION:

Gaining new insights, fighting old biases.

Session 6:

• ENGINEERING NEW BODY PARTS:

Out with the old, in with the new.

DISTINGUISHED FACULTY

DARTMOUTH MEDICAL SCHOOL:

Each session will feature two professors from the Medical School, representing a wide range of disciplines including Anesthesiology, Gynecology, Microbiology, Obstetrics, Pharmacology, Physiology, Psychiatry, Surgery, and Toxicology.

VERMONT LAW SCHOOL:

Many of today's advances in medicine raise complex legal and ethical questions. A legal expert from Vermont Law School will join us for each session in order to address these issues.

SPECIAL GUESTS:

Since health care is also at the forefront of many public policy debates, we've invited special guests from state government and other areas to help us understand the implications of changes in medicine for the overall health of our region.
