Dr. Felde will be speaking about military and veteran culture and issues which are pertinent to medical care of veterans, including mental health concerns. She will provide an introduction to Veterans Administration health care and veteran demographics. Although veterans are a heterogenous group, there are some qualities common among veterans which are important to understand in providing trauma-focused care. Dr. Felde will discuss some of the mental health issues facing many veteran patients, including suicidality, Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, Substance Use Disorder, Traumatic Brain Injury, and Military Sexual Trauma.

Dr. Felde has served since 2014 as a staff psychiatrist at the VA Medical Center in White River Junction, Vermont, and is an Assistant Professor of Psychiatry at the Geisel School of Medicine at Dartmouth. Dr. Felde teaches second- and third-year medical students as well as psychiatric residents. She was previously the Director of the Traumatic Brain Injury Rehabilitation Program at the Bavaria MEDDAC for the US Army in Bavaria, Germany. Other past positions include psychiatric consultant to the Polytrauma Rehabilitation Center at the Minneapolis VAMC. She served in the Army as an active duty psychiatrist in Wuerzburg, Germany, with the 67th Combat Support Hospital. She specializes in Consultation-Liaison psychiatry. Dr. Felde earned her medical degree at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons and completed her psychiatry residency at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington DC.
