ATP Internship Opportunity – Business Data Analytics

ATP Company Description:

Andean Telecom Partners is the largest privately owned provider of digital infrastructure in the Andean region. Our company owns, operates, and leases assets across our portfolio of telecommunications towers, rooftops, small cells, and optical fiber networks.

With presence throughout Colombia, Perú, and Chile, our solutions play a central role in supporting vibrant digital economies, and in enabling mobile and internet connectivity in South America.

Internship Description:

ATP seeks to hire a paid Business Data Analytics Intern for the period of Summer or Fall 2019.

In addition to gaining hands-on exposure to ATP's business, our Intern will work together with corporate leadership to analyze available performance data, and to develop intelligent, multi-source reporting tools that provide critical insight into our local, in-country operations.

The internship will be based out of ATP's Corporate Management Office, located in Hollywood, Florida.

Intern Prerequisites & Qualifications:

- Currently enrolled in at a top-level college or university, and pursuing an undergraduate degree (B.A., or B.S.) in Computer Science, Mathematics, Economics, Engineering, or related field
- Fluent in both written and spoken Spanish
- Experience in computer programming, including distillation of large datasets via SQL and visualization tools (e.g., Power BI, Tableau, etc.)
- Relevant coursework in Economics and/or Corporate Finance
- Experience and interest in developing solutions for practical analytics
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills
- Strong problem solving and critical thinking skills
- Self-starter with interest in the global Telecommunications industry
